An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mr. Conrad on 8/14/06.

In claim 26 lines 1-3 "for use with an instrument for determining the concentration of a medically significant component of a body fluid, the system including" has been replaced by--including an instrument for determining the concentration of a medically significant component of a body fluid, --.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: In addition to the remarks of record, the cited prior art fails to teach or suggest the claimed system comprising an instrument for determining the concentration of a medically significant component of a body fluid, a cradle for receiving the instrument and an accessory box creating a housing for the cradle and instrument further comprising a pivotally coupled carrying handle attached to the housing having a number of yieldable locking positions.

The Office considered the primary references of Holmes et al.(USP 5,371,687), Holmes et al. (USP 5,594,906) and Kelly as all teaching systems comprising an analytical instrument that is placed in a cradle and a case for carrying both that included a fixed position handle. The cited prior art does not require movement of the handle to different positions for use of the instrument or for its transportation (e.g. the handle swings out of the way when the cover of the cited prior art is opened). In contrast, the handle of the instant invention must be moved to a different position to facilitate operation and transportation of the system. Because the cited prior art does not recognize or experience a problem with the fixed handle, the Office does not believe there would have been any motivation to modify the taught handle to a multiple position handle.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Lyle A. Alexander whose telephone number is 571-272-1254. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.
